

EDELRID AUTHORITIES

Code of Conduct

Climbing and free movement in the vertical world are freedom-loving activities. We can only enjoy those to the fullest in a free and safe environment. It is therefore important to defend, maintain and protect our freedom.

With an expertise gained over decades, EDELRID has made this principal its mission and equips our security forces and those of our partner countries with the best possible personal protective equipment for the vertical world.

This Code of Conduct serves as self-regulation for the AUTHORITIES product range.

Product range

The EDELRID AUTHORITIES range includes PPE products and accessories that are specially tailored to the requirements of armed forces and law enforcement agencies.

Product developments are driven forward with partners from the industries, and existing products from our Sports and Professional areas of application are adapted accordingly, as well as initiated by EDELRID itself. EDELRID AUTHORITIES products are designed to enable free movement in the vertical world and offer users protection and safety at height. Only products that correspond to EDELRID's core business and serve to protect the emergency services, are developed and sold.

Offensive equipment such as firearms, ammunition and other lethal combat equipment are not part of the EDELRID product world.

Marketing

AUTHORITIES products are provided with discreet, inward EDELRID branding that is only visible to the user. EDELRID CI and labeling are not visible from the outside.

Our AUTHORITIES products can be viewed on our EDELRID homepage under their own category and areas of application page. EDELRID is shown without firearms etc. in all product presentations (images, customer visits and trade fairs etc.).

Public appearances at trade fairs and symposia are limited exclusively to events specifically for armed forces and law enforcement agencies. We do not take part in public trade fairs. Participation in such events is limited to the countries listed below.

Sales

Advice and sales in the respective AUTHORITIES sales countries are only provided by pre-audited dealers/agents specialized in armed forces and law enforcement.

Should embargoes, trade controls or sanctions be imposed on the above-mentioned countries, EDELRID will of course comply with them.

Compliance with these rules of conduct is ensured by reviewing and monitoring our sales activities with the help of our reporting system. We guarantee the implementation of our Code of Conduct by training our sales staff and our international dealers and agents.

FAQs

Why does EDELRID produce tactical PPE?

Our vision is to realize ideas to enable free movement in the vertical world. Our armed and law enforcement forces also move vertically and need specialized protective equipment to protect themselves from falling.

Why only sell to NATO countries?

NATO, as a community of values of free democratic states, sees itself as a defense alliance with the common principles of peace, democracy, freedom and the rule of law. EDELRID is committed to these values and wants to create a clearly defined and transparent regulation for our AUTHORITIES business.

How does the AUTHORITIES business fit to with EDELRID's values?

We take responsibility - knowledge is what makes our actions sustainable.
We are honest - We stand by our word and act openly and honestly.

Can tactical products also be purchased by private individuals?

Yes.

Is it ensured that AUTHORITIES products do not reach unauthorized customers via detours (non-NATO, third countries, mercenaries, crime, ...)? If so, how?

Compliance with these rules of conduct is ensured by reviewing and monitoring our sales activities with the help of our reporting system. We guarantee the implementation of our Code of Conduct by training our sales staff and our international dealers and agents.
